Mystery Mad Lib

[1_____] was looking for his/her favorite [2_____] but couldn't find it anywhere. After looking for [4_____], [1_____] found a note that read, "Your [2_____] is [3_____] and now it is mine." [1_____] was [5_____] and so he/she went to talk with [6_____], who was [1_____]'s smartest friend.

"Do you think it could have been [7_____]? He/she collects [2_____]s!" said [6_____]. "In fact I remember seeing [7_____] [8_____] with one [9_____] ago." [1_____] [10_____] over to see [7_____], who was busy [11_____] in the giant [12_____] outside. "I know you have it," said [1_____]. [7_____], looking [13_____] and a bit [14_____], asked what [1_____] was talking about. After telling [7_____] about the note, [7_____] said that he/she already had [15_____] of them in his/her collection, so did not need any more.

[1_____] thought for [16_____].
"[17_____], I think I have got it!" [1_____] said, who then [18_____] to [6_____]'s bedroom and opened the door. There was [6_____] [19_____] with the [2_____]. "How did you know it was me?" said [6_____]. "Well I remembered that you are the only person who calls things [3_____]!" And with that the mystery of the missing [2_____] was solved.
